1. Deanship of Admission and Registration

- What are the general admission requirements at the University of Jeddah?
Applicants must be Saudi nationals or the offspring of a Saudi mother. They must possess a high school diploma (or its equivalent) obtained from within the Kingdom or abroad, issued no more than five years prior to the application. Employed applicants must secure official approval from their respective governmental or private employers. Furthermore, candidates must submit their General Aptitude Test scores (for the Humanities track) or both Aptitude and Achievement Test scores (for the Scientific track). Applicants must not have been subjected to prior academic dismissal from any institution.
- Are there any academic programs currently offering a distance-learning modality?
No, the university does not presently offer any academic disciplines or degree programs that permit distance learning.

2. Academic Affairs and Alumni

- Does the university facilitate a bridging program (Tajseer)?
A bridging program is not available at this moment; however, the university intends to launch such programs in the near future.
- Is undergraduate admission open for the second academic semester?
No, undergraduate admission at the University of Jeddah is strictly conducted on an annual basis prior to the commencement of the academic year.
- What are the prerequisites for graduating with academic honors?
To qualify for academic honors, a student must not have failed or received a “Denied/Deprived” status in any enrolled course. Furthermore, the student must fulfill all graduation requirements within an optimal timeframe (the median duration between the minimum and maximum permissible period for degree completion) and must have completed no less than 60% of their graduation requisites strictly at the University of Jeddah.
- What is the procedure for obtaining an official transcript or executing the “Wathiqati” (My Document) service for university clearance?
Students may request an official transcript or apply for the “Wathiqati” service via the designated student portal within the digital academic system, provided they have successfully fulfilled all prospective graduation requirements.

- How may a student request a nominal modification on their graduation certificate?
Name modifications can be processed through the “Wathiqati” electronic service during the application phase, or by initiating a direct inquiry with the Alumni Unit.
- Is it permissible to authorize a representative to collect the graduation document?
Yes, proxy collection is permitted, provided the representative submits a legally authenticated power of attorney or if the graduate coordinates the authorization in advance via the official institutional email address.

3. Deanship of Graduate Studies and International Cooperation

- When does the application period for graduate programs commence?
Application timelines are officially announced on the university’s portal and digital platforms in accordance with the annually approved academic calendar.
- What are the standard admission criteria for graduate programs?
While specific criteria vary by program, standard requirements typically mandate holding the prerequisite academic degree, achieving a specified minimum Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA), successfully passing language proficiency or aptitude examinations (if applicable), and satisfying any supplementary conditions stipulated by the respective academic department.
- What is the mechanism for applicant evaluation and selection?
Evaluation criteria are formulated annually by academic departments and colleges, subsequently ratified by specialized academic councils. Comprehensive details regarding the selection metrics are published on the program’s official admission page.
- Is it possible to apply using a statement of expected graduation?
Yes, prospective candidates expecting to graduate prior to the upcoming academic year may submit an expected graduation statement. However, the final prerogative to accept or reject such documentation lies strictly with the pertinent academic department.
- Can applicants modify their submitted admission files?
Modifications to the application are exclusively permitted during the designated active application period. No amendments can be accommodated once the electronic portal is officially closed.
- What is the validity period of the General Aptitude Test for University Graduates?
The test score maintains its validity for a period of five (5) years commencing from the date the examination was administered.

4. Deanship of Student Affairs

- What are the eligibility parameters for the disability stipend?
Eligibility is strictly contingent upon the classification framework endorsed by the Ministry. Students must submit validated medical reports to the Persons with Disabilities Unit for institutional review and subsequent stipend allocation.

- How can students participate in collegiate sports tournaments?

Opportunities for internal university competitions are broadcasted on the Deanship of Student Affairs website. Conversely, participation in external tournaments is facilitated through the annual competitions directory maintained by the Saudi Universities Sports Federation.

5. Deanship of Quality and Development

- How does the institution measure beneficiary satisfaction?

The university employs a multi-faceted approach to gauge satisfaction, encompassing comprehensive surveys featuring multiple-choice and open-ended inquiries, continuous monitoring of social media interactions, and rigorous analysis of customer service data metrics.

- What constitutes a Key Performance Indicator (KPI) within the university context?

A KPI is a quantifiable metric that reflects the efficacy of an institution in achieving its strategic objectives. The Education and Training Evaluation Commission (ETEC) has established 44 baseline KPIs aligned with updated academic accreditation standards, which the university measures and augments with tailored strategic indicators.

- What is the distinction between procedural and operational indicators?

A procedural indicator evaluates an entity's strategic contribution toward actualizing the university's overarching vision. In contrast, an operational indicator assesses the execution proficiency of administrative and routine activities outlined within the organizational framework.

- What defines a standard measurement cycle?

The measurement cycle corresponds to the fiscal year during which performance achievements are meticulously evaluated, commencing in January and concluding in December.

- How does the university differentiate between baseline, target, and actual values?

The baseline value represents the initial reference metric at the onset of the cycle. The target value denotes the specific performance milestone the entity endeavors to reach by the cycle's conclusion. Finally, the actual value indicates the verified, empirical performance outcome achieved.
